

Non-government charges should be included in the monthly rate for wireless/cellular services. Because the first bills for new service do not arrive during the cancellation period, you don't find out the cost of these "Extra" fees until you would then have to pay an early-termination fee.